This is a place where we will spend very few seasons of our life. Perhaps you have come here with no definite quest. You are drifting through life and at the moment escaping some of its harsh realities. You may drift on and invade the paramount questions of life. But will you ever know who you are or what you are doing in this place? Remember, self-knowledge is the fulfillment of life.

Life is made up of years. Years are made up of seasons. Life at Carroll College, however, is a continuous cycle of four seasons. Each year is a near facsimile of the last. What we do today, another did previously, and someone new will do again. You see, for every senior there was a junior, for every junior a sophomore, for every sophomore a freshman. Therefore, this book is not just a memory book of this year but it is also a preview book of those to come. It is dedicated to the lifeblood of this year's seniors, juniors, and sophomores — the incoming freshmen.

College is more than the classroom, lab and the library, it is a strange place abounding with opportunities to which we join ourselves for a meager four years, then it is no more. We are suspended from, but a lesser part of, the normal realm of society. We have no known place. We know not what we want. We are confused, excited, depressed, struggling, expectant, searching

AUTUMN

Life is made up of years. Years are made up of seasons. The first season at Carroll is Autumn. Autumn is the season of Adjustment. For some, this means adjusting to a completely new way of life; friends, social standards and strict academic responsibilities. To others it means readjustment to the demands of the school year. The season of renewing interests is Autumn.

Chaos, fear, and fun symbolize the first few days at Carroll College. Moving in — and discovering that your room is on fifth floor — begins it all. You are next confronted with the fear of registration — all of those papers and cards. — Finally all three emotions are combined as the Seniors confront the Frosh with Beanies and the beginning of the Initiation Ritual.

There is hardly a chance during the first few days of the school year for the frosh to relax until the day of the all-school picnic. Beginning with the Mass of the Holy Spirit, dedicating the year to God and asking for his blessings and helps, this annual affair is designed to ignite a feeling of unity between the newcomers and the upperclassmen.

Preparation for Homecoming is no easy task. Days of careful planning and hard work are involved in making this day a success. Most will agree, however, that the hours spent decorating are not painstaking to any extreme degree.

Football practice begins in the relentless heat of late summer. By the time the league season starts in September, the team has been cut to approximately 35 men who will work together in eight consecutive games. The Players are divided into offensive and defensive squads which are to work as teams within a team. They settle into the routine of the season: hard practices Monday through Friday, games on Saturday. The stadiums are biased battlefields for play marked with the fierce pride which characterizes any sport.

The Carroll Music Department offers a varied program of Recitals, Concerts, Plays and other services, making music an integral part of life at Carroll.

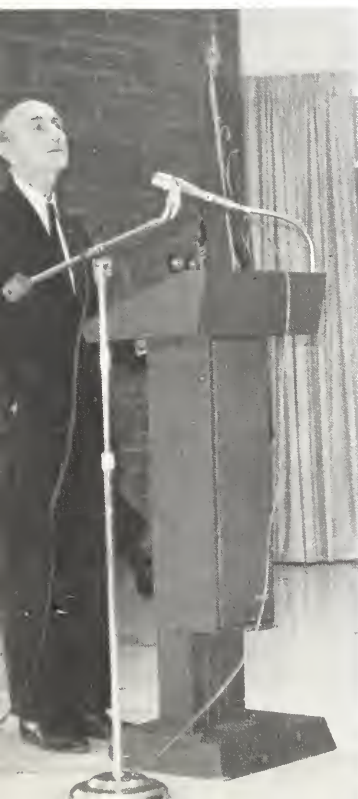

The College's new Administration-Classroom building, O'Connell Hall, was dedicated and opened for use early in the school year. This building provided much needed administrative and faculty office space as well as increased classroom spaces fully equipped with the newest educational aids.

Student affairs extend beyond the college campus. In late October Carroll was host school to a meeting of the Montana Student President's Association and to a Journalism Workshop for the five colleges in Montana. Several discussions were held concerning college affairs and several guest speakers addressed the assembled student leaders

WINTER

Life is made up of years. Years are made up of seasons. Hunger for knowledge, eagerness for friendship, unending energy and spirited competition keep the winter season alive. The sophomore becoming a junior, the junior becoming a senior, and the senior approaching a turning point in his life; all sustaining a whirlwind of vigorous activity.

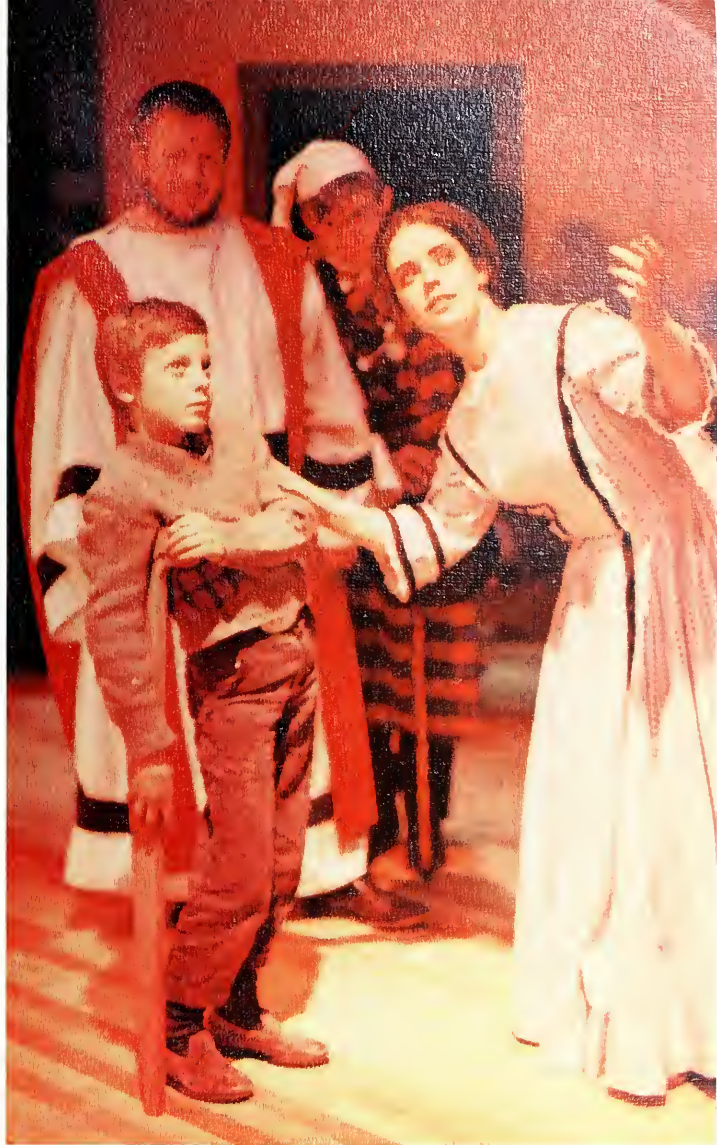

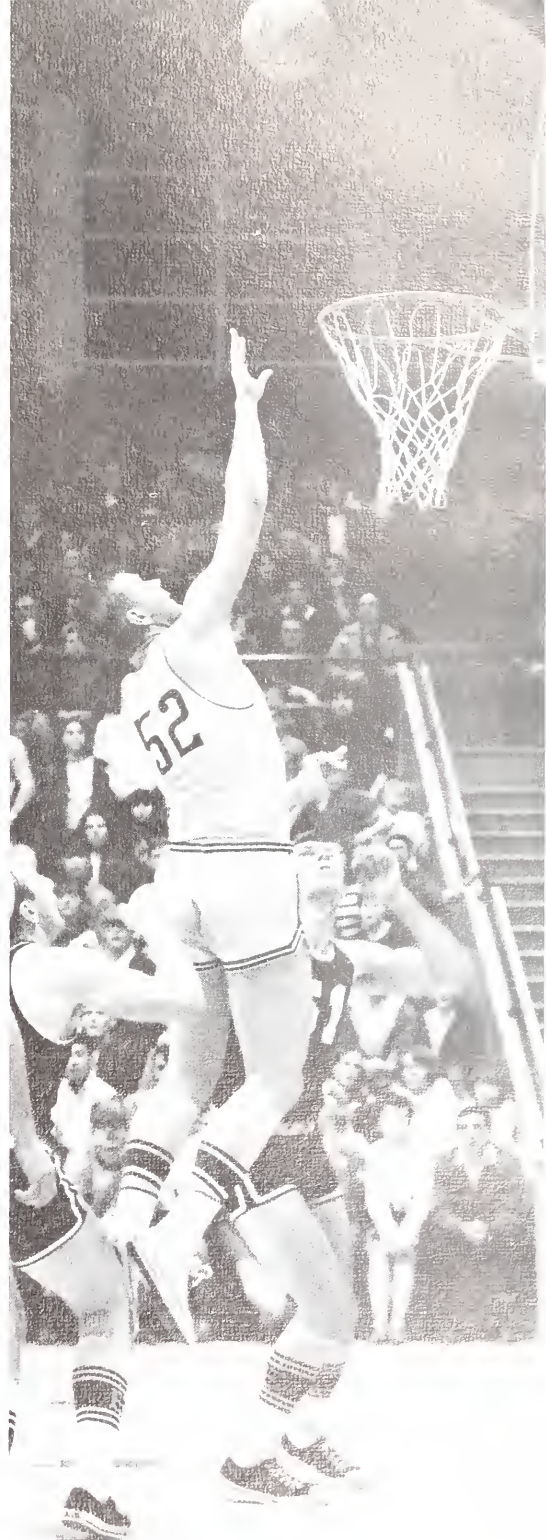

Fr. Andrew Greeley and Miss Jackie Grennan were among the speakers presented in the Walsh Lecture Series this year. A series of Sex Education Lectures was also presented and well received by both students and faculty. These lecture series provided the opportunity to gain knowledge, information and insights not learned in the regular college classroom.

The 1966-1967 version of Carroll College roundballers was perhaps the best ever in college history. Midway through the season the cagers caught fire winning fifteen consecutive games to capture the Frontier Conference Championship. To climax a great season, team members Tony Sapit and Jim Mallard were named All-American by the NAIA poll of coaches.

The Red Cross Blood Drawing is but one example of the many projects to which the Spurs and the Circle K dedicate their services. Carroll has continuously held the record for the amount of blood donated by students on college campuses in the state.

Several months of hard work and careful planning were involved in preparing for Carroll's most successful event of the school year. The Up With People group sang to a crowd of 4,000 in the Helena High School Gymnasium in late February. Never before has a crowd this size gathered to watch big name entertainment in Helena. Up with People presented a dynamic performance filled with folk, rock and roll and show boat style music.

WINTER IS THE SEASON OF PEACE AND CONTENTMENT.
WINTER IS THE SEASON WHICH LOOKS AHEAD
TO THE NEW YEAR OR NEW SPRING TO COME.

SPRING

Life is made up of years. Years are made up of seasons. Spring is a season of mixed emotions. It is the beginning of a new year. It is a time for looking ahead, peering back at the past, while still living in the present. If only life would remain still for a few fleeting moments, but life must move on. Moments of success, sorrow and happiness, these are in the past, present, and future. Life will not wait. Its fleeting moments are so urgent.

Education cannot mean merely the development of our intellect or of all our potentialities for there are potentialities for evil in us as well as for good. Nor can it mean mere preparation for life, but rather to make the world a better place to live in. Our educators should realize as clearly as possible what kind of potentialities they are to develop in their students; what kind of life they are to educate young people for. The ideals and values which constitute the essential elements of culture must first be clearly understood and appreciated
